To Whom It May Concern:

This is to inform you that Jim Willison of Advanced Communication Design and Consulting, Inc., assisted us in the purchase of our new 800 MHZ radio system. This was our first venture into the world of trunking and we made the mistake of trying it on our own. After many mistakes and seeing the cost for the system escalate we knew that we were in over our heads.

It was at this time that we talked with Jim about cleaning up our mess and helping us to purchase a system which would not only meet our needs, but also cost the least. After finding out what our needs were, Jim assisted us in redoing our bid specifications and in the process saved us several thousands of dollars. The final cost of the system was approximately $250,000.00 dollars.

As this was no small task, in the demands that we made, or the requirement that we had, I would have no hesitation in recommending Jim Willison to anyone that is contemplating the purchase of a new radio system.
